

Position Title: Web Developer

Company: ELAN Home Systems

Required Experience: Three years with software and web publishing.

Position Description

ELAN Home Systems is hiring an internal web developer to work with the Marketing Department. ELAN is a fast growth firm and has multiple web properties to manage. This is a “hands on” position requiring you to develop the code required to fulfill business requirements from ELAN. We are looking for someone with a keen eye for design. Our business is very creative and we’re looking for a developer to be creative with us.

Primary Responsibilities

1. Develop, manage, and support the technical aspects of four web properties using different development platforms (We continue to grow so this number may increase.)
2. Develop creative technical applications that align with ELAN’s need to serve customers, internal staff, and dealers worldwide. Example: a dealer forum.

Secondary Responsibilities

Each web property uses multiple technologies. This position should plan to unify these under the one technology stack (Microsoft or LAMP).

Management of third party hosting companies

Requirements

- Two years experience developing customer-facing web sites / applications in conjunction with graphic artists
- Two years of Microsoft ASP & ASP.NET, SQL, JavaScript, CSS, and HTML development
- Working knowledge of Visual Studio 2005

Experience in any of the following areas is desired

- PHP and MySQL
- E-Commerce tools (payment gateways and PKI requirements)
- SQL Reporting Services
- Web Services – XML and SOAP

- Flash integration/programming

This position reports to the Art Department which, in turn, is under the direction of the Marketing Department. The communication of development terms and limits will be very important in this position.

Compensation: ELAN pays bi-weekly and offers a wonderful range of benefits. This position pay is between $40,000 and $50,000 annually. The benefits package options include life insurance, medical, dental, short and long term disability, a 401(k), and a Flexible Spending Account.
